Multicultural Youth Leadership CURRICULUM & TRAINING for Youth Development Professionals!

Thursday, July 1, 2010

Location: SeaTac

9:00am – 4:00pm Curriculum Facilitators Training

(for youth development staff, program managers, teachers, and others who want to facilitate the curriculum with youth)

You are invited to a training for youth development organizations interested in implementing a leadership curriculum module for diverse older youth.

Multicultural Youth Leadership increases knowledge of culture, self-awareness, and leadership skills among participants in a way that honors their respective communities. This curriculum module is designed to be added on to your programs' existing youth leadership curriculum, or carried out on its own with youth already knowledgeable about leadership. In an age-appropriate way, youth ages 14-18 will begin to understand the complex ways culture, power, communication, and leadership intersect.

In this training, you will experience the curriculum first-hand, discuss the implications of using this curriculum with youth, and brainstorm ways to incorporate it into your program.

Training Pre-requisites: Training participants should have previous facilitation experience with youth. Please note, this curriculum was designed to be used with youth who have previous leadership experience and is meant to supplement another youth leadership curriculum or program.
